

Our History

Six Chambers started in February 2005 as a photography company, specializing in band photography. Six chambers is most known for its photography having done several cd covers & booklet designs for South African artists as well as having photographed several of South Africans biggest artists including Mean Mr. Mustard and Arno Carstens. Over the last year six chambers add to its direction other fine arts to include body casting, sculpturing, painting and acting. Art if any kind should be a source of joy and enjoyment. For this reason we decided to train the young artist in the above mentioned skills to enjoy and PRODUCE its own art or to become a successful artist Talk to us on for advice on your choice of the fine arts how to start training yourself or to begin your career in the fine arts.
